Description

This Polybutt 110 Litre Slimline water butt is designed with a woodgrain effect which creates an attractive addition to any garden. The water butt is manufactured from fully UV stabilised LLDPE (linear low density polyethylene) meaning the product will not degrade over time and will retain its strength for 10 – 15 years. This slimline 110 litre water butt is the smaller sister of the 220 Litres (also available) and is ideal for smaller garden spaces; available in 4 colours.

The kit includes everything you need to start collecting and storing rainwater to be used for activities such as watering plants. The unique matching stand allows easy access for watering cans to be filled from the pre-fitted tap. The rain diverter allows water to flow from the drainpipe into the water butt. The diverter also stops the water butt from overflowing by continuing the water-flow down the drainpipe if the water butt and connector are full. The lid is child-friendly, and provides enough strength to hold a potted plant, benefitting the overall look of the product.
